

ICAR-Central Institute of Fisheries Education, Mumbai

57th Annual Day on 6th June 2018

ICAR-Central Institute of Fisheries Education, Mumbai, celebrated its 57th Annual Day on 6th June 2018. Shri. Prakash Mehta, Hon'ble Minister of Housing, Govt. of Maharashtra, graced the occasion as Chief Guest. Mrs. Bharathi Lavekar, Hon'ble M.L.A., Versova, Mumbai, was the Guest of Honour. Dr. Gopal Krishna, Director & Vice Chancellor, welcomed the chief guest, dignitaries, and former employees of the institute by presenting floral bouquet. In his welcome address, he briefed the achievements made by the institute in academic and, research activities and also human resource development and techniques developed. He highlighted the flagship programme on inland saline aquaculture as well as other outreach programmes undertaken by the institute recently. He presented institute's vision for the progress of the university and the existing collaboration with various national and international Universities. The Chief Guest in his address appreciated the infrastructure development and contribution of ICAR-CIFE for its role in HRD in the field of fisheries. He emphasized the importance of growth in agriculture and fisheries for the economic growth of the country, and assured all support needed from his ministry for the welfare of fisheries sector. The annual institutional awards in various categories like Best Scientist, Best Teacher, Best Extension Scientist, etc. and letter of appreciation to the deserving staff for their outstanding contribution for the growth of institute were distributed by the Chief Guest. A cultural program was organized in the afternoon in which the staff, students, and family members of CIFE participated enthusiastically. The programme ended with vote of thanks by Dr. N.P. Sahu, Dean (Academics).