ICAR-CENTRAL INSTITUTE OF FISHERIES EDUCATION

The ICAR-Central Institute of Fisheries Education (CIFE) is a premier fisheries research and education institute in India, located in Mumbai, Maharashtra. Established in 1961 under the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR), it offers academic programmes and conducts research across various disciplines in fisheries science. CIFE plays a vital role in human resource development, research and extension activities to promote the growth and sustainability of the fisheries sector in India. CIFE has five regional centres at Rohtak (Haryana), Kolkata (West Bengal), Powarkheda (Madhya Pradesh), Kakinada (Andhra Pradesh) and Motipur (Bihar).

The Division of Fisheries Resources, Harvest & Post-Harvest Management (FRHPHM) of the institute has been at the forefront in designing and implementing academic and research programmes relevant to all stakeholders. The division is instrumental in the stewardship and sustainable exploitation of fisheries and associated biological resources.
